

Activities You Can Try to Meet New People

Imagine yourself as the person in the middle of this page. Draw lines to activities that you may like to try that would help you to meet new people. Plan to make them happen.

Friendships flourish when both people enjoy each other's company. Friends can share ideas respectfully, they communicate openly, they enjoy mutual exchange of time and discussion in a reciprocal manner. Friendship is built on trust. You can learn more about trust at <http://www.support-my-decision.org.au/trust>